West Chambers Medical Center Adds Physical Therapy Program to Service Line

Local healthcare facility adds rehabilitation program to meet local demand.

ANAHUAC, TEXAS (July 15, 2014) – Chambers Health announced the addition of a physical therapy program at West Chambers Medical Center in Mont Belvieu. The new program comes with the arrival of physical therapist, Jeremy Jennings.

“We’re excited to now offer this important rehabilitation program for our patients and the community,” explained Steve Gularte, CEO of Chambers Health. “A stronger tomorrow begins with the recovery decisions patients make today, and Chambers Health is here to help them make those vital assessments.”

Physical therapy is an approach to rehabilitation that utilizes various forms of exercise and equipment which are specifically designed to assist people in regaining or improving their physical strength, motion and function.

Licensed therapists work individually with each patient and their physician to develop a personalized rehabilitation plan. Goals are outlined based on the patient’s condition and a program is carried out that focuses on meeting recovery goals.

The physical therapy program will be led by Jennings, a licensed physical therapist who received his training from The University of Texas Medical Branch – Galveston with a Master of Physical Therapy. A local resident and graduate of Barbers Hill High School, Jennings has been providing similar services in the area for nearly a decade.

“Helping people return to their normal everyday activities following an injury or surgery is my passion,” said Jennings. “Under the direction of their attending physician, I approach each patient with compassionate care and a personalized recovery program; I am able to target their individual weaknesses to ensure a better recovery.”

Common after debilitating accidents or a surgical procedure, physical therapy works by restoring a patient’s ability to function by minimizing their physical impairment. Those who suffer from congenital or acquired conditions also have much to benefit from a physical therapy program.

If you have recently suffered from an accident, are recovering from surgery, or have a medical condition that you think might benefit from physical therapy, ask your doctor if a rehabilitation program, at West Chambers Medical Center in Mont Belvieu is right for you.

“Recovery is only a short drive away, and having access to comprehensive physical therapy in Chambers County is very important for our patients,” explained Jennings. “So many communities lack recovery services, and the last thing you want to do when recovering is having to travel great distances for treatment.”

Physical therapy services are available Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. through 5 p.m., through West Chambers Medical Center in Mont Belvieu and The Wellness Center at Bayside in Anahuac. For more information or to schedule an appointment, please call 409-267-3700.
